

Language Learning is Child's Play!

Are you among those who look enviously at multi-lingual neighbours for whom learning a second (or even a third!) language seems the norm? Are you frustrated when you are unable to say even the simplest phrases when abroad? And embarrassed as the locals slip seamlessly into English to help you out?

Research at the University of California reveals that memory is greatly improved when accompanied by fun and laughter. In a bid to prove that everyone is good at languages and inspired by the outcomes of the research, EuroTalk have developed a software range which is fun to use and invaluable for learning.

Forget about the daunting tasks of learning spelling, grammar and long lists of vocabulary and focus on what's really important: to understand and to be understood. Most people keen to learn another language are motivated simply by wishing to converse. That is exactly what our products will teach you.

The idea is to focus on carefully selected "key words", the most frequently used words in any language. If you think about your own language, many of the words we use are repetitions, and we tend to use the same set of words in different contexts. Once you know them it is easy to join in the conversation, even if you are not able to put complete sentences together straight away.

EuroTalk have developed software series, which allow you to learn the key words by playing a range of games and quizzes. The games are designed to be fun and addictive, making sure that you spend maximum time interacting with the language. By constantly listening to and engaging with the language, you won't even notice how quickly the words start sinking in.

The method is inspired by how young children learn their own language. Have you ever played "I spy" with a child? It's amazing how fast they learn new words and spelling! The EuroTalk method follows the same principle: you hear key words and start associating words with images. Finally, the recording facility ensures you repeat the words, helping you to improve your pronunciation.

Having mastered the key words, the next step is to build on your listening skills. Even if you struggle to begin with, you will soon find yourself understanding more and more and begin to have a real grasp of the spoken language.

Learning a language by playing games and quizzes is the most entertaining, addictive and effective way of getting results fast. And if you are still not convinced, visit www.eurotalk.com and find out for yourself!
