About Deema

Born in Lebanon, grew up in Kuwait, now based in London and Spain. Works as a lawyer and owner of a bar.

Languages: English and Arabic fluently, some French and currently learning Spanish after moving to Barcelona last year.

What made you choose to study the languages you speak?

In the Arab world, depending on where you grew up, most countries were former territories of Britain or France. Kuwait happened to be a former British colony, so I went to an English-speaking school. As for Spanish, I'm learning it purely out of "lurve"!

What are your favourite language learning tips?

Being able to understand what people are saying in a social situation is a great motivator. By speaking with someone who wants to learn a language you speak and by arranging a regular "exchange" with them you also learn a lot.
